Oh! she was gentle as a dove,
And knew no bass design,
She had two horns her head above,
Like any other kine,

Her beauty, hid from poblic gaze, She never brought to view; Nor made a neise on rainy days, As other cattle do.

In winter she was fed on hay, We cut the folder fine; She gave eight quarts of milk a day, On Sanday she gave nine. And just at source every night. She came home without fail; She never felt disposed to fight, And ne'er kicked o'er the pail,

She sought her friends 'mong other cows; With whom she won esteem; She never kicked up any rows; But always gave good dream.

Oh! she was generous to a fault, Betrayed so idle fears. She never yet refused her salt, She wore a pair of ears.

And now she's gone to her long home, We mourn, and ever shall, For everybody said she was, A fine old animal.

He also tells of three men in one day making $350, and of five men making $500. But again, it is all bearsay. Matt tells of having dug no roll, nor does he even say that he had seen any. Ho, too, mentions the selling of two claims for $2, 100, but it is cally an induced ment to speculators, too many of whom are there already.

rect from the mines, many of whom have prospected there for months, and that, too, during the last summer and fall when there was no snow to interfere with their operations, and they unanimously proaounce these and quality of work, and is, in a word, THE Wherehe has on hand, and will for the future keep, wherehe has on hand, and will for the future keep, and the store of the store. was no snow to interfere with their opera-tions, and they unanimously proacunce these reports false. One man told us he was at Gregory's diggings, only a few days before these huge piles should have been taken out, and the miners were then before the bed rock, and as yet had found no gold. We will not say there is no gold there, nor that it may not yet be found in paying quanti-ties. But it looks a little strange that such reports should follow right upon the heels of reports should follow right upon the heels of those thousands of returning miners, all of whom are satisfied that it will not pay. Bet sides, the stories do not hold together. They are large and marvelous, and are so very like Leavenworth. Remember, she is in her death struggle, unless she can make something out of this foror. Rather than give up, she will magnify mole hills into mountaine, and grains of dust into thousand dollar slugs. Again, we say, hold on.

ser Speaking of the enormity in dress, and the inconvenience resulting therefrom to ladies while travelling, an exchange very properly remarks:

"Our wives and daughters lose three-fourths of the pleasures of summer travel, by the inexcusable, the execuable perversion of true taste and common sense, in dressing for a rail car or a steamboat as if they were going to a court reception. It does seem that they have no more idea of the fitness of things than idiots. Cannot some few gen-tlemen have their own way for once, and thereby set the fashion by dressing in the families for a summer travel in plain, sub-stantial garments, allowing no member anything beyond what a small carpet bag would contain, and which should be the sole article which each one was to take care of. Let us all 'put curselves upon our behav-lour,' and not on eur dress. The fact is, the clerks and proprietors of hotels, the captains of steamboats, and the conductors of railroads, see at the very first glance the real status of a traveller, the dullest chambermaid, the most stupid cabin boy, and the laziest waiter, are neither dull, nor stupid, nor lazy, nor erring, either, in the estimate they make of the people, as if by

Inc. A discovery has been made in Cork, Ireland, of a horrible neglect of pauper children, similar to that which caused such a sensation in New York City last year. According to a report of the Mayor of Cork, the children in the pauper prison have been starved into scrofula, starved into blindness, (thirty two have been sent to the Blind Asy-lum,) and starved into idiotey. There are forty-eight young creatures stunted growth, and scarcely one not disease I.

from which manifests suffer over a large part of the sicies, in the summanusce of a discussed action in the system, unincert by the poisonous minus of vegetable deepy. This samustom of articles by the action of some base on wer seed, and it is suffer with the watery report from it. White was an a below the heatron this way or largers near the cent's sortere, and the cinns is taken with it through the lungs into the blood. Then it was as an irritating poison on the internet, clasers and artifesting poison on the internet, clasers and acceptable organs of the body. The it was comed exercited organs of the body. The it was contracted to the body of the property of the virus and the bile accumulate in the circumstator, and produce violent constitutional disconfiguration, and produce violent constitutional disconfiguration, and produce violent constitutional disconfiguration. The spleen, the bilinery, and the stomach available, study the instinct of our organism as if he an attempt to expel the hoxious infosion, concentrates the whole blood of the body in the internal exercises to force them to easi it out. The blood leaves the surface, and rishes to it. Then the Favan follows, in which the blood leaves the cintral organs with congestive violence. This is the Carra. But in this effort it fulls. Then the Favan follows in which the blood leaves the cintral organs and rushes to the aurince, as if in another effort to expel the influence of the second or the body are the cintral organs and rushes to the nurface, as if in another effort to expel the influence of the second or the second organs with congestive violence. This is the configuration of the second organs with congestive violence. The state and it fulls, and the system abundance the second organism and rushes to the aurince, as if in another effort to expel the investing poison through the other great exerctory— the site. In this aim it fulls, and the system abundance the second organism and other organs or an auticate.

Ayer's Ague Cure, hich neutralizes this malarious poteon in the itself, and stimulates the liver to expel it from he body. As it should, so it does care this afwhich neutralizes this malarious poison in the blood, and stimulates the fiver to expel it from the body. As it should, so it does care this sificative disorder with purfect certainty. And it dies more, or rather does what is of more service to those subject to this infection. If mich in season it expels it from the system as it is absorbed, and thus keeps those who use it free from its stlacki; keeps the system in health sillicingly exposed to the fibscase. Consequently it not only cures, but protects from, the great variety of asfectious which are Induced by this maligrant influence, such as Remittent Fewer, Chill Fever, Dumb, or Masked Agno, Periodical Hondache, or Bikans Headache, Billous Fevers, Nonralgia, Rheumatiam, Gout, Blindness, Touthache, Larsche, Catarrh, Asthma, Palpitatious, Painful Affections of the Spleen, Hysterics, Colic, Parsival, and Painful Affections of the Stomach and Bowols, all of which, when ariting from this cause, will be found to assume more or less the incornitions of these derangements, and cures the disease.

This it accomplishes by stimulating the exceedings to expel the virus from the system; and these organs by degrees become habited to do this their office of their own arrord. Hence arises what we ferm acclimation. Time may accomplish the same red, but often life is metiong enough, or is sacrificed in the attempt, while this "Acune Curas" does it at once, and with asfety. We have great reason to believe this is a sure as well as sood, that an any other which has been discovered; and it has affill another important advantage to the public, which is, that it is cheep as well as good.
